SECTION B: Program report and reflection

1. Program objectives

- Define the focus of your study
- Clearly identify variables to be measured
- Indicate the various steps to be involved
- Establish the limits of the study
- Avoid collection of any data that is not strictly necessary.

2. Program description:

Lecture on "Research and Review Paper" organized by School of Pharmacy, Abhilashi University, Chail Chowk, Mandi, H.P on 17th June 2016. Prof. H.S Banyal, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor was the chief guest of the lecture. Dr. Jyoti Sondhi, Assoc. professor, School of Engg. & Mgt. and Dr. Nitu Asst. Prof. School of basic Science were the speaker of the day. They discussed that, A research paper is based on original research. The kind of research may vary depending on your field or the topic (experiments, survey, interview, questionnaire, etc.), but authors need to collect and analyze raw data and conduct an original study. The research paper will be based on the analysis and interpretation of this data. A review article or review paper is based on other published articles. It does not report original research. Review articles generally summarize the existing literature on a topic in an attempt to explain the current state of understanding on the topic. Review articles can be of three kinds:

- A narrative review explains the existing knowledge on a topic based on all the published research available on the topic.
- A systematic review searches for the answer to a particular question in the existing scientific literature on a topic.
- A meta-analysis compares and combines the findings of previously published studies, usually to assess the effectiveness of an intervention or mode of treatment.

Review papers form valuable scientific literature as they summarize the findings of existing literature. So readers can form an idea about the existing knowledge on a topic without having to read all the published works in the field. Well-written review articles are popular, particularly in the field of medicine and healthcare. Most reputed journals publish review articles. However, you should check the website of the journal you wish to get published in to see if they accept such articles. If published in a good peer-reviewed journal, review articles often have a high impact and receive a lot of citations.

SECTION B: Program report and reflection

1. Program objectives

- The main objective of intellectual property law is to encourage innovation and to provide incentives for innovation by granting protection to inventors that will allow them to recover research and development investments and reap the benefits of their inventions for a limited period of time.

2. Program description:

One day Workshop on Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs) & Research Ethics conducted by School of Agriculture and IPR Cell, Abhilashi University, Chail Chowk, Mandi, H.P on 1st Oct 2016. Dr. R.K Abhilashi, Hon'ble Chancellor was the chief guest of the lecture. Dr. L.Raju and Dr. Amar Gularia, were the speaker of workshop. They discussed about Intellectual property rights help protect creations of the mind that include inventions, literary or artistic work, images, symbols, etc. If you create a product, publish a book, or find a new drug, intellectual property rights ensure that you benefit from your work. These rights protect your creation or work from unfair use by others. In this article, we will discuss different types of intellectual property rights and learn how they can help researchers.

There are two main types of intellectual property rights (IPR).

- Copyrights and related rights
- Industrial property

Copyrights give authors the right to protect their work.

1. Program objectives

To provider to know the risk of disease, response to the therapy, and benefit from more targeted and effective treatment.

2. Program description:

Experts' speaker Dr. Kamal Singh Rathore, Prof. & Head (Dept. of Pharmaceutics), B.N College of Pharmacy, B.N University, Udaipur said that changes in medicine technology provide an opportunity for the patients and the healthcare provider to know the risk of disease, response to the therapy, and benefit from more targeted and effective treatment. However, then, the researchers and physicians need to have robust knowledge and understanding of the genomics and other fields related to personalized medicine, we will have to incorporate technology in reading and research over time. This is the need of the hour. The field of science and genetics allows us to develop effective, safe medications, and doses tailored to an individual's genetic makeup what we call it today as "targeted therapy" which is either small-molecule drugs or monoclonal antibodies.

SECTION B: Program report and reflection

Program objectives

Intellectual Property Rights

Program description:

Intellectual property rights are the rights given to persons over the creations of their minds. They usually give the creator an exclusive right over the use of his/her creation for a certain period of time. There are many types of intellectual property, and some countries recognize more than others. The most well-known types are copyrights, patents, trademarks, and trade secrets. The main purpose of intellectual property law is to encourage the creation of a wide variety of intellectual goods. To achieve this, the law gives people and businesses property rights to the information and intellectual goods they create, usually for a limited period of time. This gives economic incentive for their creation, because it allows people to benefit from the information and intellectual goods they create, and allows them to protect their ideas and prevent copying.
